

Department of Economics

Department of Economics is one of the eight main departments of Ghoom Jorebunglow College. Initially the department provided only the general courses. However from the year 2009 the Honours & Programs Course started to function. Since then several students have been graduating from this department and not only acquiring higher education but also achieving success in the fields of Research, Education and Administration.

We aim to produce students of highest quality by providing proper guidance through books and practical applications. For the better understanding of the subject the department also conducts surveys and excursions for the students.

The faculty members of the department are well qualified, friendly and possess practical knowledge of the subject.
